

A Global Platform for Freight Forwarding Professionals

Dear Betmarie,

I am delighted to extend my personal welcome to you and your company as members of G7 Networks and I want to thank you for your trust and belief in me and the direction of the network.

Since our start in November 2016, we have established ourselves as a respected network with over 314 members in 118 countries in a highly competitive marketplace.

Our strategy now is not to stop at what we have achieved so far, but to move forward and further build the network, increasing our membership and global coverage, but doing so in a controlled and highly professional manner, assuring our membership of an organized platform which provides opportunities for members to partner together and develop mutually beneficial business.

Our focus has always been to differentiate ourselves in the networking industry and to engage with the members in delivering more than just a network. I am extremely focused on this being a results-oriented business rather than just allowing the network to sit without direction.

It is due to this approach that we have achieved so much in our first five years, and maintaining this policy will, we are sure, give us the ability to achieve greater further results. If we align our goals and if each member understands the direction and expectations of the network, this level of development can be achieved quickly.

We encourage you as a new member, to be involved, be excited, reach out to the other members, and strive to achieve what you have not yet achieved within your existing business or network.

From the start, it was always our aim to drive changes in areas that we felt needed change. We identified one key area to which we have given priority, and that was improving the quality of the networking arena for members, providing a better way to drive a network and deliver results for members.

This we have achieved, creating a community spirit within the network rather than what exists outside of it where we see companies getting lost in competing not only with multinationals but also with each other within their territories and their networks.

We are extremely excited about the future of G7 Networks and what we can achieve as a group. We are happy to have you as part of this future and we look forward to working with you, committed to seeing the upcoming year as a year in which we continue to make a difference within the networking industry, and more importantly, deliver results for your business.

Yours Sincerely,

Nils Walle
